

Assuring Rights during COVID-19:

A Discussion for People Supported by the DC Department on Disability Services

Event Description:

“Do I still have to wear a mask?” “When can I go to work or to my day program?” “Can my family and friends visit?” These are just a few questions you may have during this COVID-19 public health emergency. To find discuss answers to these questions, DDS invites all people enrolled in services to participate in a virtual discussion about assuring rights during COVID-19.

During this guided conversation, we will talk about ways to help you balance your rights with staying healthy and safe. You will also learn where to find important information that will help you and your support team stay up to date with any changes. Please note: Each discussion will be recorded and shared by the Department on Disability Services as a resource for others. By participating in the discussions, you are agreeing to being recorded.
