Join us on August 16 for DC DDS's inaugural Tech First Summit. This one day disability technology conference will be held at the new Martin Luther King, Jr. Memorial Library from 8:30am - 4:00pm. Both in person and online attendance options are available.

DDS Director Andrew Reese kicks off the event with an an overview of the agency's Tech First initiative, which seeks to give people with disabilities more opportunities to use technologies to enhance their lives.

This conference includes several sessions presented by leaders from around the United States in the applications of tech solutions to support people with disabilities. In-person attendees will be able to experience different technologies live with vendors and exhibitors.
