X. DEVELOPMENT, MAINTENANCE AND DESTRUCTION OF THE CASE RECORD

RECORD OF SERVICE

In accordance with Federal and State regulations, DCRSA will maintain case record documentation on each applicant or eligible individual, 34 C.F.R. § 361.47.

A record of services will be established for each individual placed in Status 00 or 02 and maintained until the designated time when it may be destroyed. For each record of services, certain DCRSA forms, in addition to correspondence, reports, etc., are required at certain statuses to assure adequate casework during the rehabilitation process.

RECORD OF SERVICE DOCUMENTATION

The primary purpose of documentation is to facilitate the counseling relationship by bringing into focus all the pertinent data about the individual. This enables the counselor to understand the individual, to counsel and help plan future adjustment, to help secure necessary medical, educational, and other rehabilitation services, and to assist in locating suitable employment.

It provides the information needed to establish a professional relationship with the individual. During early contacts with the individual, the documentation should emphasize history, present adjustment and environmental situation, and the objective measures of, or reports on, physical and mental capacities. This provides an informational basis for the counseling relationship and provides substantiation for a planned program of services.

Documentation provides continuity with respect to the information, the evaluations and the services provided in the case. In each interview or individual contact, the written record provides the point of departure from the last contact. Also, when there is personnel turnover or when more than one person participates in the development of the case, the record of services enables each participant to coordinate the work with that of the others.

Documentation contributes to sound thinking by the counselor. It does so in two ways. Since no record — without audio recording that is, — will reproduce everything said or agreed to, the counselor is forced to be selective in what is recorded. While recording, information must be sifted through — and items selected — that have the greatest significance in evaluating the individual's present capacities and adjustment, and in predicting how and in what area future adjustment can be best facilitated. The writing of any diagnostic or evaluation summary calls for sound thinking. In these, the counselor records the individual's experiences, the evaluation placed on tests, examinations, behavior of the individual, and the proposed course of action.

The processing of work in accordance with existing policies and procedures is the counselor's responsibility. Case processing, filing, reporting, and recording must be performed with extreme care. Case documentation includes Agency forms, medical information, case narratives, post-operative reports, training reports, and other pertinent information related to the individual's rehabilitation program.

CASE FOLDER

The individual's file is the official record of service. The case folder will contain all relevant correspondence, reports, forms, financial records and documentation of the individual's rehabilitation program. The case folder will be maintained uniformly throughout the Vocational Rehabilitation Services Division (VRSD).
